[Children should know that sentences start with a capital letter and end with a full stop.]

Spelling:

These are part of the core words list for this term- can you spell them all (and then use them in 'free' writing)?

- 35. gave may find fly many
- 36. fell ran tell than sat
- 37. stop help sing going how
- 38. fast walk five keep found
- 39. wish think why these work
- 40. white should another woman because

Plus words such as the colours [red, yellow, green, blue, black, white, purple] and their address.

We've put the words in small groups to be more manageable on a weekly basis

Three new words I've learnt from my reading books are:

--	--	--	--

What literacy work is going on?

Stories with familiar settings	Children will be reading stories such as 'Oliver's Vegetables', 'Peace at Last' by popular authors. Writing is then based on making changes to the original stories.
Non-fiction Instructions	Children learn to follow instructions, verbal and written. Then learn how to write instructions of their own for familiar activities.
Poetry 'Really Looking'	Using descriptive words and phrases, children learn to understand what adjectives are, through looking carefully at objects, pictures and texts.
Non-fiction Information texts	Children learn the difference between fact and fiction. They read and write information on a variety of topics and learn how non-fiction texts work.
The types of writing will centre on types of books or stories and will also include spellings, punctuation and grammar as part of the lesson. Guided Reading in groups also reinforces learning, also including handwriting, comprehension and expanding vocabulary.

Some games to play that will help!

Pelmanism: This is a simple game to make and play. Write two copies of each word and then mix them up. Can you find the two halves of the pair?

Word Bingo: Make bingo boards with words instead of numbers. Add the words to a jar and then draw them individually until a player shouts "Bingo"
